

Revoltting Rupunzel

Once there was a girl who had very long hair,

She loved to go on adventures but it wasn't fair,

Her step mum locked her up on days,

To stop the poor girl from running away.

Lot's of adventures she did want,

But her step mum was nonchalant,

Her lucious, long hair hanging out the window,

Waiting and waiting for it's here.

Rupunzel, Rupunzel let down your hair
let down your hair

As she climbed down her hair,

She saw a strange glare,

She escaped the castle,

But the queen thought she was a little rascal.

As she tried to get away,

Her lucious, long hair got in her way,

She was tangled up upside down,

Her face covered in a furious frown.
