

THE GOD OF NATURE

As the village shone with light from the sun the ah Kim ma rose from his bed to check his calendars 'atrick' they made 2 years of crops dying

Untue is with his friends, hunting deer in the pale, oak woods with his shiny, trustworty spear. "look at that enormous deer" whispered Untue's best friend. As Untue creapt stealthily around the woods and was so close to the deer. Until...the god of Nature sent a grey cloud that swooped in and saved the deer.

Untue screamed to his friend "HOW DID THAT HAPPEN". His friend replied "I don't know"

Soon after, Untue boomed into the dark gloomy sky "Do the gods have anything better to do than torment us". 5 minutes later Untue heard a clicking noise coming from the dark, green bushes. It was a small, beige monitor lizard with a sharp, blue tongue. Knowing to be the servants of Yem Koox the boys sled. Soon after they were whisked into the air and got trapped in a cage of bamboo

Then the ground shook as big, stomping rocky feet walked across the earth. The cage shattered as Untue had his first encounter with the god of Nature. The voice of yem Koox rumbled like thunder on a stormy day. Untue calmly stated "It was all a misunderstanding it was the lizard". "NO EXCUSES" screamed Yem Koox
