Thomas Cromwell
King Henry VIII's Chief Advisor
Hampton Court
East Molesey

Monday 1st April 1539

Dear Sir Thomas Cromwell,

I am writing to offer for my future employment as I would be unrivalled. My uncle, Lord Carew, is very close to King Henry VIII who is very honourable. I would be so grateful to take the position and work alongside people like you. With your approval, I will be the finest page there is.

As a nephew of Lord Carew, from my judgement I am aware of the dutys I will have to take on if I am His Majesty's page. I would love to join in with the feasts It would be an honour to join. I am concious of His Majesty's love for music and dance. I also have a passion to sing and dance. I am found of a lot of songs. I am a pupil of the stunning lady Carew, she has taught me a vast amount of what I know. Additionally, I have been told that I am good-natured and I know I would be so excited to be in court with someone as important as King Henry VI II. Being a part of a massive family I am very good at sharing. I know that it is rolyty before all.

As a result of my upbringing, I can adapt to a vast amount of situations, since my older brother recently past away. I am confident that I possess the ability to be a cut above the rest even word Percy Howards. Given my background in horse riding I know I would be able to supply this love to Prince Edwards.

You will have my graditude until the end of time since you have read this letter for this noble occupation. I trust that I will have a fairly good opportunity to get chosen. Does this sound pleasing to you? It would be the best gift in the world to get this career and work with his glorious Majesty and Prince Edwards.
