A Archduke of Austria - Hungary brutally slaughtered while visiting Bosnia.

Reported by George B

Yesterday on 28th June, a series of hostile events
happened on the streets of Sarajevo Bosnia. The
heir of Austria-
Hungary, Archduke
Franz Ferdinand, was eventually assassinated
while on a state trip. According to the soldiers a member of the Black Hand
society, fired
two deadly shots. Although the assassin
motivations are unclear, it is understood that he supported the idea of creating the Greater Serbia in the Balkans.

A Browning pistol used in the Assassination.

It has been reported that the royal archduke in Sarajevo, early in the morning. From the train station

Where they were greeted by cheering crowds. They were escorted in a car of cats. According to the sources many people lined up the streets to welcome the archduke and the duchess. It is claimed that they were heading towards the Town Hall for which and later on planned to inspect the Austrian troops. In an unexpected turn of events a terrorist from the Black Hand Society made an attempt to destroy the car by throwing a grenade. As a result of the explosion, many people were injured and were taken to a hospital for treatment while the car left the scene. It seemed that undeterred Duke decided to change his plan of the visit and went on to see the injured civilians. On the way the Duke's vehicle had to be turned around. This gave an opportunity for another assassin to fire two fatal shots at Franz Ferdinand and Sophia. It has been reported that within seconds the murderer - Gavrilo Princip - was arrested by the police. The day of attack, hundreds and thousands of people gathered in Sarajevo to greet the royals but were left traumatized. Mr Robinson James who was the Duke's driver reported: I didn't think once when making a wrong turn. ~~Quickly~~, I realised that I went the

Wiang Road so I
had to reverse when out of nowhere the shots were fired.
In the corner of my eye I saw somebody with a gun. I was terrified but I instantly rushed
to save Archduke.
But it was too
late ... he's dead...
she's dead... It's so upsetting.
Glen the café
owner witnessed
the assassination of the royals. He told us he was making a coffee
when a man rushed
through the customers
knocking a table over.
Mr Glen added
that it all happened
so quickly: the
gunshots, everybody
screaming and
rushing for safety.
"I can't believe

it that they both dead. They were such a lovely
couple! he stated.

This situation
in the Balkans
has been difficult
for many years as Austria Hungary
has been annexing
other countries making
these countries bigger.
The failed to establish another empire in the Kingdom of Serbia. As a result many groups were created to assassinate
the royals and to
cause chaos.
These groups were trained by the Serbian army and sponsored by the Serbian government.
Volunteers to become members of the Black Hand Society decided to volunteer to perform the acts of terrorism.

Flabbergasted the people of Sarajevo
have been frightened
after the terrible
events that unfolded yesterday. The echo of the bells
intoned people of the unthinkable deaths.
Hundreds of thousands of Austro-Hungarians

paid their respect
in the churches whilst other in Sarajevo
have put flowers
on streets to pay
respect to the victims

Right now, everybody speculates about
the repercussions
that the assassination
could have on Austria-Hungary.
Will there be war?
